

Fuel Your Future

Air National Guard

The Air National Guard allows you the greatest flexibility in reaching your educational and career goals. Whether you plan to attend college full-time and work part-time or go to college part-time and work full-time, the Air National Guard can provide free skills and money for school. Whatever you decide, it is important to realize that finances may play a major role in the achievement of your short- and long-term objectives. Many students overlook the military as a means of financing their goals in a way that is enjoyable, interesting, exciting and personally rewarding.

Our mission makes the Air National Guard one of the elite military organizations of the United States government. Although we were officially commissioned in 1947, our tradition of service dates back to 1636 when a group of patriotic citizens (the original Minutemen), banded together to defend the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Since then American citizens have always responded to the challenge of helping our country in time of need. Many have done so as members of the Air National Guard. We invite you to become a part of this great American tradition.

Educational benefits that are available to members of the Air National Guard are second to none. For those who are interested in higher education but cannot afford the ever-escalating costs, the Air National Guard is an ideal way to meet this challenge. The Montgomery GI Bill is 100% noncontributory and is available for Air National Guard members who want to pursue a college degree. The amount of the aid varies with the number of credits the student takes in college. A full-time student, for example, may receive up to $263 a month. In addition to the Montgomery GI Bill, New Hampshire Air National Guard offers 100% Tuition Waiver to NH state schools on a space available basis. This is a great opportunity to further your education at home and achieve your goals with our help. We also offer the $20,000 Student Loan Repayment Program in selected career fields. This program makes annual payments to lower your loan balances as much as

$2,500 per year. You might also qualify for a cash bonus up to $8000.

Some Air National Guard members are eligible for all these programs. The point is, if you are interested in higher education, there is no better way to get it than by enlisting in the Air National Guard. You will learn a skill that may enable you to get a steady, secure, well-paying job in civilian life. You will even get paid while you learn. Most, if not all of your higher education will be paid for, and equally important, you will make friends, and have great deal of fun along the way.

To join the Air Guard, you must pass the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery test (ASVAB) and a physical examination. Within your first year as a member, you will attend basic and technical training. Six weeks of basic training followed by

MILITARY CAREERS

For many, the military offers excellent "learn-and-earn" opportunities. All new members of the armed Forces receive basic training to prepare them for military life. Most go on to advanced training for specific occupations to prepare them for their military career. This job training may also count toward academic credit in a civilian college. The military provides training to their personnel in a variety of subjects ranging from weapons maintenance to telecommunications and personnel management to strategic battle simulations. Civilian employers consider military training excellent preparation for many civilian jobs.

In New Hampshire, the NH Air National Guard and the NH Army National Guard are proud members of the US Armed Forces. The articles here describe the different opportunities available through these local military service organizations.

technical training is all expenses paid by the Air guard. This includes a full time pay check for you! Your obligation to the Air National Guard is to work one weekend per month and 15 days per year doing the job you learned in technical school.

No matter what path you choose, you will be given equal chance to prove yourself. As you do, you will fuel your future with valuable career training, educational assistance, and a steady paycheck.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD"

New Hampshire Army National Guard

State Military Reservation

4 Pembroke Road, Concord NH 03301

The National Guard has fought in every American war from the Pequot War of 1637 to the more recent, Bosnia. Today, it's mission remains the same as it was more than 350 years ago:

Be available to help fellow citizens in times of need, and to be ready to go to war if necessary.

In the Army National Guard, you can live at home and enjoy a full family life, maintain a full-time job, or pursue a full-time education--all while serving your country and community. Most Guard members serve only one weekend a month and two weeks a year. In exchange for part-time service, you will receive good pay (the equivalent to four days active duty pay for every weekend you "drill"). You will also enjoy many other benefits while on active duty.

Benefits of Army Guard service include low-cost life insurance, PX and exchange privileges, Space-A (available) travel, and advanced technical training.

Furthermore, time served on active duty can be combined with Army National Guard service to build toward a military retirement. Camaraderie, leadership opportunities, and a change of pace are all a part of Army National Guard service.

If you're considering college, you can take advantage of a variety of educational benefits, such as the Montgomery GI Bill, the Guard's Tuition Assistance Program, and free academic testing. As a member of the New Hampshire Army National Guard, you can also participate in the NH National Guard Scholarship Program and the Tuition Waiver Program at

New Hampshire state colleges, universities, and community technical colleges. Some schools even award academic credit for Guard training and service.
